

In this talk we study algebraic differential equations with meromorphic coefficients in the unit disk. The growth properties of the solutions of such equations are of interest; however, poles of the coefficients create some difficulty in estimating the characteristic function, this is where the Blaschke product of the zeros and the Blaschke product of the poles of the coefficients play an important role.